Ashland announces significant board refreshment and board leadership changes to support continued execution of strategic plan
Neuberger Berman assisting in process and voting for Ashland slate of nominees for 2019 Annual Meeting
Company to initiate search for two new directors in consultation with Neuberger Berman and with input from other shareholders
Jay Ihlenfeld to be appointed lead independent director

COVINGTON, Kentucky, January 14, 2019 – Ashland Global Holdings Inc. (NYSE: ASH) today announced significant changes to the composition and leadership of its board of directors, consistent with its ongoing board refreshment program. These include the addition of two new independent board members, appointment of a lead independent director and appointment of new board committee chairs.

These actions were taken by the Ashland board in consultation with Neuberger Berman, one of the company's largest shareholders and a long-term Ashland shareholder of over five years, along with input from other shareholders. Neuberger Berman has agreed to vote for Ashland's nominees for election at Ashland's 2019 Annual Meeting of Stockholders on February 8, 2019 ("2019 Annual Meeting").

"We have a long history of engaging with Neuberger Berman and appreciate its positive contributions to this process and support of our director nominees," said Bill Wulfsohn, Ashland chairman and chief executive officer. "With the planned addition of three new independent directors in 2019, we have clearly demonstrated our commitment to board refreshment, ensuring we have the right mix of skills, expertise and experience to support our transformation. We look forward to continuing our constructive dialogue with Neuberger Berman and other shareholders with the goal of enhancing shareholder value."

"We greatly appreciate Ashland's spirit of collaboration and openness to enhancing the company's corporate governance practices," said Charles Kantor, Neuberger Berman Managing Director and Senior Portfolio Manager. "Additionally, we look forward to continuing to communicate our views on capital allocation and incentive compensation design in an effort to further align and reward decision making that maximizes long-term value for Ashland's enviable asset base. Our firm has been a longtime investor in Ashland and supports the strategic initiatives currently underway; accordingly, we will vote for the full Ashland slate of nominees at the upcoming Annual Meeting. Finally, we look forward to working closely with Ashland to aid in selecting the best qualified candidates to further strengthen the board of directors."

Addition of Two New Independent Directors

A search for one new independent director to be added to the board following the 2019 Annual Meeting will be initiated immediately. A second additional independent director will be appointed during the course of fiscal year 2019. Ashland will create a list of candidates to be considered for appointment to the board, in consultation with Neuberger Berman and with input from other shareholders. The company does not intend to permanently expand the size of the board. The board will appoint the two new independent directors consistent with its disciplined board process and with the assistance of Russell Reynolds Associates, a leading executive search firm.

Following these two appointments, eight of Ashland's directors will have been added to the board since 2015. These directors include Craig A. Rogerson, chairman, president and chief executive officer of Hexion, Inc., who was added to the board's slate of nominees following engagement with several major shareholders on January 2, 2019.

Michael J. Ward, having served on the Ashland board for 18 years, has indicated he will retire from the board following the appointment of the first new independent director, which will take place after the 2019 Annual Meeting.

Board and Leadership Committee Changes

The board has announced the following changes, effective following the 2019 Annual Meeting:

- Jay V. Ihlenfeld, current Ashland director, will be appointed lead independent director, following the recently announced retirement of Barry W. Perry.
- Mark C. Rohr, current director, will be appointed chair of the Governance & Nominating Committee.
- Kathleen Wilson-Thompson, current director, will be appointed chair of the Compensation Committee.
- Mr. Rogerson, current director nominee, will be appointed to the Compensation Committee.
- Brendan M. Cummins, current director, will move from the Governance & Nominating Committee to the Environmental, Health, Safety and Quality Committee, to leverage his extensive chemicals expertise.

"Jay's executive, operational and chemical industry experience make him ideally suited for the lead director role," added Mr. Wulfsohn. "Each of these three directors – Jay, Mark and Kathleen – have been instrumental in the execution of our strategic plan that is driving significant value and we look forward to their continued guidance. Importantly, we want to thank Michael and Barry for their longtime leadership and dedication to the company and our shareholders."

"I am honored to serve in this expanded role on the Ashland board as we complete our journey towards becoming a pure-play specialty chemicals company," said Mr. Ihlenfeld. "We have a highly qualified and engaged board that is committed to overseeing the continued execution of our value-creating plan. We and the Ashland management team look forward to capitalizing on the progress we have made."

Ashland strongly recommends that its shareholders vote to support the Ashland directors at the upcoming 2019 Annual Meeting by voting the BLUE proxy card today FOR all 11 of Ashland's qualified and experienced director nominees: Brendan M. Cummins, William G. Dempsey, Jay V. Ihlenfeld, Susan L. Main, Jerome A. Peribere, Craig A. Rogerson, Mark C. Rohr, Janice J. Teal, Michael J. Ward, Kathleen Wilson-Thompson and William A. Wulfsohn.
