Ashland announces price increase for maleic anhydride in North America

DUBLIN, Ohio (September 17, 2018) – Ashland announced today it will increase the price of maleic anhydride sold in North America by $0.04/lb. This increase will take effect October 1st or as contracts and price agreements allow.

This increase is driven by a rapid escalation in raw material feed stock. Ashland continues to make these decisions with the intent to ensure we are providing our customers with reliable delivery of maleic anhydride and with the highest quality material and service levels.
